Its original mission was to help families affected by Katrina to move to the Tredyffrin-Easttown area to take advantage of the townships' wide array of services, including its excellent school system. This mission was later expanded to one of helping local people and families in need in and around the T-E area. This help has taken the form of temporary rent and utilities subsidies, coordinating the donation of furniture and other household items and providing referrals for medical services. Support for all families is confidential.
